

Hey Mr. DJ! Group Game

Try this music-themed jeopardy game to keep your travelers singing.

Things you'll need:

Whiteboard or large paper to keep score

Pen or marker

Playlist with at least 10 songs on your phone or a mix cd and radio

Instructions:

Split your travelers into teams of 5-10 people to play.

Start playing each song. The first group to raise their hand has a chance to answer. Stop the song and let them guess both the name and the artist you're playing. Teams can earn a point each for the correct song title and artist, for a total of two points possible per song.

If they get one correct, but not the other, start playing the song again and give the others a chance to earn the other point.

For an answer to count, they must start their answer with the phrase "Hey Mr. DJ." If they don't start their answer with this phrase the points are up for grabs!

The team with the most points at the end of the playlist wins.

For example, you start to play "Kashmir" by Led Zeppelin, the first team to raise their hand must answer "Hey Mr. DJ, that's Kashmir by Led Zeppelin" to earn 2 points for the song.
